BEEP PROF LECTURES AT PVC

Mr. Leon Bridges, AIA, of Bridges/Burke, Architects Seattle, Washington, served as a Visiting Professor in the National Urban League's Black Executive Exchange Program (BEEP) Architecture course at PVC on October 19th and 20th.

BEEP, sponsored by the National Urban League, augments the curriculum at black colleges and universities. Black executives, borrowed from business and industry, add a vivid dimension to classroom theory through examples drawn from on-the-job experience. Each week, a different executive lectures for two consecutive days on his or her area of expertise as part of a college-planned, credit bearing course. Throughout the term students learn in depth about the tools and skills necessary for success in a variety of career field.

A member of the AIA for several years, Mr. Bridges has been involved with "inner city" planning, regional environment and community oriented design.

Born and reared in Los Angeles, Mr. Bridges moved to Seattle in 1955. He is a graduate of the University of Washington College of Architecture and Urban Planning.

Among his professional affiliates are the AIA, serving on the Task Force on Equal Opportunity, and as Vice-Chairman of the Honor Awards Committee. His community service includes the King County Planning Commission, serving as a National Board Member of Planned Parenthood World Population and other neighborhood groups.

Mr. Bridges and his wife Eloise live with their two sons and two daughters in Seattle.

CPPC STAFF Mr. Robert J. Brady, Mgr. of Professional Placement for Consolidated Edison recruited at PVC on October 19, 1972.

Following his visit to PVC, Mr. Brady commended Director Brutus Jackson and the Career Planning and Placement Center staff in an October 20th letter to PVC President Alvin I. Thomas.

Mr. Brady wrote, "Con Edison recruits at approximately 60 colleges each year. Therefore, I should like to bring to your attention that I consider your placement office to be one of the best organized and best run offices that I visit."

Mr. Brady was especially impressed with the following:

- His visit was obviously well publicized in view of the fact that he had a schedule of some 15 students
- The PVC students were well-prepared for the interview
- The Placement Office staff went out of their way to assist him in realigning interviews when inevitable cancellations occurred.
